Against Imperialism, Jihadist Fundamentalism, and Chauvinism; The Oppressed Kurdish People Are Not Alone!

In Rojava, the clashes that began on January 6 between HTŞ and SDF appear to have resulted in a temporary ceasefire following an “agreement,” after Kurds were expelled from many areas and dozens were brutally murdered. Today, once again, as a result of an agreement between international powers—the world’s chief butcher, the US, and other imperialists competing with the US in this butchery—and regional reactionaries—Islamist Turkish fascism and the fundamentalist jihadist regime of Ahmed al-Shara—the Rojava Kurds are bitterly experiencing abandonment following the collapse of the federal model based on Kurdish self-administration established after the civil war began in Syria in 2011 , are bitterly experiencing abandonment with the demise of the federal model based on Kurdish self-governance established after the civil war that began in Syria in 2011. The Kurds of Rojava are trapped in a trap that harbors mass killings, in full view of the whole world.

Undoubtedly, this is not the first time the Kurds have been abandoned to massacres and genocides. However, a comprehensive examination of how this process unfolded in the context of the recent “Rojava Revolution” will be the subject of another article. For now, we will limit ourselves to identifying some points of orientation in order to intervene in the anger, outcry, and profound disappointment that have emerged on the brink of a genocide.
